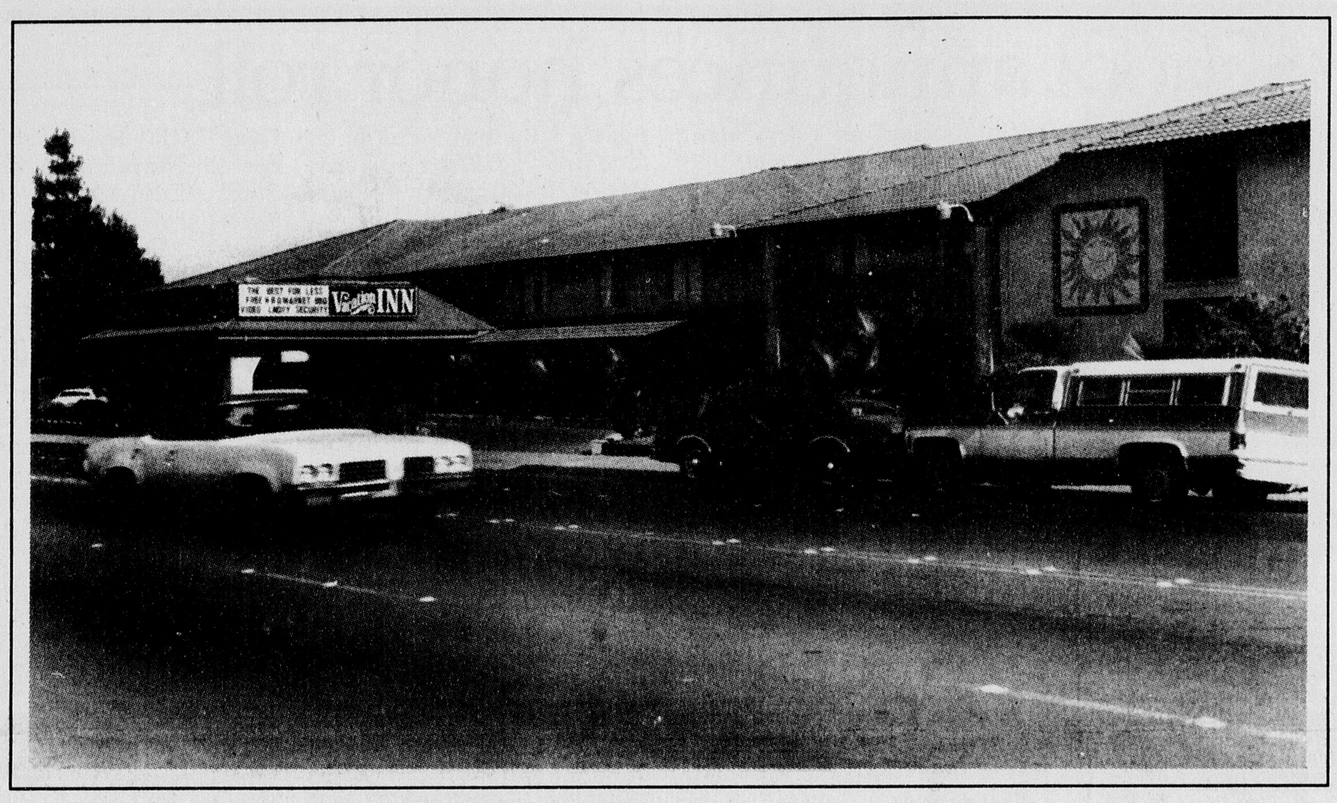
Say 'goodbye' to old Vacation Inn

West Sac receives $5.7 million grant to build new complex, while demolition of old building remains scheduled to begin next week



In 1991, squad cars were a familiar sight in front of the old 'Vacation Inn' on Merkley Ave., which police said was responsible for one in every fifty of the city's calls for police help. Next week, the building is scheduled to begin coming down, thanks to a private contractor hired by the redevelopment agency. Officials have just learned the redevelopment agency will then receive a $5.7 million grant to help build a new senior housing complex.

By Steve Marschke

West Sacramento has won a $5.7 million grant from the federal Housing and Urban Development Department to construct 73 units of senior citizens' housing at the site of the former Vacation Inn motel (now the Margaret McDowell Manor) at 1525 Merkley Ave.

The grant is expected to make up the difference left over from a previous, million-dollar grant to construct 14 units at the site, said City Councilman Wes Beers, so that "we're going to be able to put in a brand new senior housing project at that site."

WES BEERS

The announcement could spell the beginning of the end of the difficulties West Sacramento stepped into when the city redevelopment agency purchased the building in 1991 for $4.5 million, expecting another $2.5 million would convert it to a senior housing center.

One of the main reasons the building was purchased was that under previous management, drug and crime problems at the motel generated about two percent of the city's total police calls.

But after purchasing the building, the agency became embroiled in a lawsuit for allegedly displacing low income residents living at the motel, and became obligated to build replacement low income housing elsewhere in the city as part of the settlement.

The agency also determined that the existing building was unfit for conversion, and would have to be demolished to make way for an altogether new building.

The nearly seven million dollars in combined grants may make this construction possible, with the planned 87 units to begin construction as early as next spring, said Beers.

Beers also responded to the issue of whether a new senior citizens center would be part of the new building, adjacent to the residences. Senior activist Dorothy Adamo and a number of others have advocated that the senior center not be in the same building as the seniors' living spaces, to avoid conflicts such as noise.

"There's no obligation to put the senior center there," commented Beers. "The city council has directed staff to re-convene our facilities committee and address that issue."

Panel of land experts to suggest uses for possible 42-acre gift on West Sac riverfront

■ Negotiations continue with Lighthouse over access issues involved in making development a 'gated' community

By Steve Marschke

West Sacramento and the Lighthouse residential project developers continue to negotiate details, but Mayor Bill Kristoff believes that the city council will be able to give final approval Dec. 4 to a plan to allow the project to privatize its streets and become a gated community.

The move is hoped to allow the development to successfully market itself and begin to build houses in earnest, after a rocky road stretching back into the 1980s, before West Sacramento even became a city.

"Lighthouse would like to have a gated community," said Kristoff. "My impression is that the council is sympathetic to what Lighthouse has to say as far as a gated community, but at the same time, we have to have public access."

That access, said Kristoff, should allow pedestrians and bicyclists to continue to move through the development and visit the riverfront. The city has adopted a riverfront use plan which is intended to provide a connecting bicycle/pedestrian path along its entire waterfront, north to south.

"People who want to walk and jog need to still be able to do those kinds of things (through Lighthouse and its waterfront)," said Kristoff.

Not connected with the access issue is a separate consideration of the gift of 42 acres by Lighthouse to the city redevelopment agency. So far, said Kristoff, the city has agreed only to consider acceptance of the acreage, and the final decision will be handled separately from the negotiations on street access.

Several issues come up when the public ownership of this land is discussed, explained the new mayor.

"The 42 acres has really sort of been put on hold," he said. "If Lighthouse wants to give the city 42 acres, what are we going to do with it? Is it going to come off the tax rolls? Can we make a good business decision with it, including maybe developing part of it as a park and selling off some of the rest for business uses to put it back on the tax rolls?"

Meanwhile, the city redevelopment agency announced yesterday that a committee of planners was being set up to address just that question.

The agency asked representatives from the California Redevelopment Association to recommend top public and private officials from fields including riverfront and environmental planning, economics, engineering and architecture to join the panel. It will then spend two days in West Sacramento, tentatively during the week of Dec. 9, to study and come up with recommendations for the land's best use.

The agency cites the land's riverfront access, views and native vegetation among its assets.

Those who wish to speak to the panel are invited to contact Kathleen O'Leary of the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency, 373-5843.

The developer's motives in attempting to give the property to West Sacramento were not immediately clear.

Kristoff suggested that it might be from the "goodness of their hearts," while a second official suggested that the gift would release remaining parcels from some costs of infrastructure encumbrances.

The agency press release arrived too late in the day to contact Lighthouse developers before press time.

Volunteers' make renovation a reality——

From Melinda Posner
City of West Sacramento
Redevelopment & Housing Agency

Is you home in need of repair?

Do you know someone whose home could benefit from a major renovation, but can't afford it? Not simply painting, gardening and minor fix-its, but major projects including plumbing, electrical and roofing?

"Christmas in April," Greater Sacramento, and the City of West Sacramento may be able to help. The city is looking for candidate homes for the annual "Christmas in April" rehabilitation program. The one-day volunteer initiative is a not-for-profit grassroots organization dedicated to the renovation of homes of low income, elderly and disabled homeowners.

And it's free!

This annual program brings volunteers and beneficiaries together in the old fashioned "barn raising" tradition of neighbor helping neighbor. Volunteers are gathered from all walks of life, and materials are donated by generous businesses and community organizations. All renovation and repair takes place on one day -- the last Saturday in April, with an all-out blitz by volunteers to complete the work between dawn and dusk.

The West Sacramento involvement in "Christmas in April" has resulted in the rehabilitation of ten homes and a shelter for battered women since 1993.

Applications for help are available at the West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, or by contacting Vicki Cook, Sacramento Housing and Redevelopment Agency, 488 I Street, Sacramento, CA 95814, 440-1322, extension 200.

Plans firmed up for American Legion baseball

From West Sacramento
American Legion Baseball

"We're Back!!!"

That's the message newly reformed West Sacramento American Legion Baseball. "West Sacramento has officially been accepted by American Legion to represent Post 440," according to president John Lopes, who announced the news at the November 20 West Sacramento meeting at the home of vice-president Steve Ericson.

As part of an organized effort to return this respected program to West Sacramento, a special fundraising breakfast is being held on Saturday, December 7, from 7 to 11 a.m. at the Goose Club, located at 3340 Jefferson Blvd. in West Sacramento. Tickets are only $5 for adults, $3 for children, for a country-style ham and eggs breakfast. A "Chicken Drop" Raffle will be held every 30 minutes. For tickets to the event, contact either John Lopes at 371-5711 or Steve Ericson at 372-0577.

Whither our sewage—

The City of West Sacramento held a second public workshop on the city's future sewage treatment options on Monday.

City staff has informed the city council that as West Sacramento grows, the current sewage plant on South River Road, which sends treated discharge south to a river outlet near Clarksburg, will become inadequate.

But plans to build a new plant near Gregory Ave. in Southport have drawn the wrath of the plant's proposed neighbors in that rural, residential part of West Sacramento. The site was picked by planners because, as a geographical low point, the plant would require minimal pumping facilities to bring sewage in for treatment.

The most prominent alternative to building a new plant is contracting with Sacramento County to treat West Sacramento's future wastes. One issue that alternative raises is the loss of local control, says city staff, since West Sacramento will then become only one vote on a board which decides on all issues surrounding the Sacramento County facility and the rates and policies it sets.

Besides the Gregory Ave. site and Sacramento County proposal, other alternatives presented by staff include:

■ Expanding the South River Road facility.

■ Building a new plant just

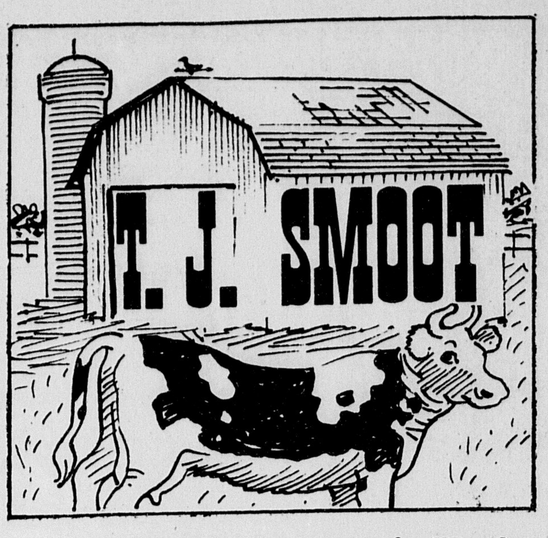
Everybody needs a wise guy (in moderation...)



Axiom #1: Nobody likes a wise guy.

My difficulty with this axiom is that however a wise guy is described. . . I am it. This wouldn't be so bad except for axiom #1 above. I'm not even sure other wise guys like wise guys. Maybe it's the competition. Maybe there just wasn't meant to be more than one wise guy in a room at a time. Maybe it's a cosmic thing, a crystal disharmonic, or some kind of balance that gets out of whack when two wise guys come within 15 feet of each other. An energy drain...or something like that.

Or maybe it was Gabriel's idea.

(Scene: Summer, 1958. Gabriel, the Top Gun of all angels sits at his ivory desk, shuffling parchment. He hears a knock on the rough hewn cedar door.)

"Come in," he loudly calls. In walks Fritz, a lesser angel of sorts, who nervously crosses the mirrory, marble floor to Gabriel's desk..

"Errhmmm. Excuse me, Sir," Fritz coughed.

"Yes? What is it, Frantz?"

"Er...Fritz,sir. Sir, we have a problem. We have a demographic glitch." He shifted in his sandals.

"Yeeesss," was Gabriel's angelic reply as he put down his quill.

"Our WGR is out of balance," Fritz quickly uttered as he fiddled with his hands.

"What do you mean?" said Gabriel looking over his bifocals at the young angel.

"WGR? Oh, that's our acronym for 'Wise Guy Ratio.' You see sir, for some reason we've had a lot of serious guys born this year. Way more than normal, and we really haven't figured out the problem yet. . . Sir," Fritz stumbled along.

"I'm listening," was the glowing reply.

"Well, like I said, the WGR is way out of whack. It's down to 1 per 893, but it's supposed to be 1 to 150."

"Well, you'd better quickly implement Axiom #56, you know, 'Everybody likes the life of the party.'" Gabriel looked up at the arched ceiling somewhat thoughtfully. "The last time we had this type of imbalance, we had Greeks writing serious logical things all over place. Fine writing, but real boring stuff. How do you think we could do this?"

"Well, Sir. We could to triple the amount of 'wise guy' elements to be instilled in selected new births this summer. It wouldn't hurt the little critters, but it would even out the WGR...and...and everything would be hunky dory again...sir." Fritz smiled nervously.

"Well, sounds like you have everything under control, Frantz. Make it so." So Fritz spun around, marched out of the room and made it so.

And that's what happened to me way back in the summer of 1958. I got a triple portion of wise guy-ness. Only problem is that when it comes to dealing with money matters, you've got to give serious responses to everything. Case in point: One stressful day when the boss I was covering for unexpectedly came back from sick leave, I gratefully fell at her feet. I think I almost kissed her shoes. She was mildly shocked. And recently at a meeting, another boss tore apart my report for some 20 minutes. After the bloodfest ceased, I couldn't help my quip, "But did you like the font?" I won't repeat her answer. Suffice it to say that I should have considered the possible fallout of my comment.

Overall, people don't take wise guys seriously. But being a wise guy is not easy, nor is it non-intellectual. Just ask any wise guy representative. Any yahoo can make a dumb joke about the baser things in life, but to take a phrase or situation and spin it on its head. . . well, that takes skill and a good manipulation of the ol' gray matter. Unfortunately, most people don't see it that way and think funny people aren't, well, serious. This translates to "stupid." Not so.

On the other hand, I'm here to say that serious folk are too tense way too much of the time. If serious people had total control of the earth, there would be no "knock knock" jokes, no answer to why the "chicken crossed the road." No one would care to know "who's on first." We'd all be wearing brown...all the time. Brown slacks, with matching brown argyle socks and brown Oxford shoes. Too much brown means no creativity to reach out and try new ideas, even business ideas. And that could mean a loss of some serious money.

So remember, the next time some wise guys gives you a quick retort, a good-natured smile, or rebounds from a difficult situation with a wry quip, run right over to him and give him a big group hug. It's guys like him that keep us from a monochrome life.

Cordova nips RC girls in overtime

By Chuck Robinson

The River City High School girls basketball team lost a heart-breaker in overtime to start the season with a lot of hope and excitement. Cordova is a division 1 school, and R.C. a division 3 school. To play so well against Cordova is something for this team to be proud of. The score was tied at 49 at the end of regular play. R.C. in overtime lost to Cordova 56 to 62.

The leading scorer was Andrea Uribe, 19 points; Cathy Leal, 11 points; Danielle Meaux, 10 points; Tashawna Sumner, 8 points; Melissa Aguilar, 3 points; Trinia Zimmerman, 3 points; and Marie Vasi, 2 points.

Head coach Heather Brite said, "I am very excited with our aggression and intensity. The girls practice hard and are very competitive which is essential for us to have a successful season. Although we did not come out with the win, I was pleased with the way we competed. Cathy Leal and Andrea Uribe made some key points for us down the stretch. Everyone worked really hard and the support from the crowd was very encouraging."

J.V. Girls Lose

The junior varsity girls basketball team took a beating from division 1 Cordova, 27 to 67. Although the junior varsity was out-classed by Cordova, they never let down for one minute. They played hard with their heads held high and with all their hearts until the last buzzer sounded. Everyone likes to win, but when a team plays its heart out like these girls did, you can still be proud of every one of them.

The scoring was led by Charisse Velazguez, 12 points; Sabrina Singh, 9 points; Kathy Clayton, 7 points; Delilah Arch, 7 points; Sarah Franklin, 2 points; and Loan Nguyen, 1 point.

The next home game is Dec. 3 against Rio Vista at 6 p.m.; following that will be Dec. 6, against Argonaut, at 5:30 p.m.; Dec. 16, against Wheatland, 6 p.m.; and first league game Jan. 10, against Lindhurst, at 5:30 p.m. Come out and cheer for these girls. They are a great group and need your support.

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The NFL season is down to the last four weeks, and the playoff picture is starting to take a better focus. The 49ers (9-3) beat Washington (8-4), 19-16, in overtime, to take a step closer to a first round bye and hosting a playoff game.

The Cowboys (7-5) lost in New York and now face a must win game on Thanksgiving Day against the Redskins, who lead the division by one game.

The Packers (9-3), Eagles (7-5) and the second year expansion team Carolina Panthers (8-4) round out the playoff hopefuls in the NFC. The Vikings (6-6) and Cardinals (6-6) have an outside chance, but must win the rest of their games to grab the last spot.

The 49ers travel to Atlanta as a ten point favorite for their Monday night game. Steve Young starts his second game in a row for the first time this year.

49ers 35, Falcons 13.

In the AFC, the Denver Broncos, with an 11-1 record, are in command of the home field advantage. The Steelers (9-3) lead the Central Division, while the Bills (9-3) and Patriots (8-4) are fighting for the Eastern title.

The Chiefs (8-4) and the Chargers (7-5) lead the rest of the pack for the wild card spots.

The Raiders (5-7) and Dolphins (6-6) meet on Sunday at 1 p.m. in Oakland to decide which one of them is going to remain in the hunt for a playoff spot. The Raiders won in Seattle 27-21 in a game they had to win, but they sure tried hard to give that game away. Again, the Raiders had over 100 yards in penalties.

The Raiders are two-point favorites against Miami, but this game should be a pick 'em. The Oakland defense will have to put the pressure on Big Dan Marino and sack him a few times if they really want to win this game.

Oakland 24, Miami 23.

The loser stays home to watch the playoffs on TV.

Boxing returns to the Memorial Auditorium on Monday, Jan. 13, with the undefeated Willie Jorrin (15-0) against George Parra (29-1). Also, in Las Vegas, two undefeated champions, Oscar De La Hoya and Miguel Angel Gonzales, meet on Jan. 18 at the Thomas Mack Center. This will be a great pay-per-view event.

The Sacramento Kings (4-9) are on the road this week. The Kings still need some help on offense, but they are still doing better than the 0-12 Phoenix Suns, who come to town next week on Friday, Dec. 6.

IF the Kings get blown out this week on the road in Indiana, New York and Detroit, they will be looking to make a trade. Lionel Simmons and Duane Causwell are being dangled as trade bait. Think anybody will bite?

Speaking of "bite": Enjoy your turkey day! Happy Thanksgiving!

See ya next week!

RC boys beat Christian Brothers

River City High School varsity basketball team started the season with a thrilling win over Christian Brothers last Thursday night at home.

At the end of the first quarter, River City trailed 10 to 15. At halftime R.C. trailed 25 to 26. In the third quarter R.C. took the lead 37 to 35. At the end of the fourth quarter with only 5 seconds remaining, the score was tied 48 to 48 when Mark Munsinger went up for a rebounds and tipped it in to win, 50 to 48.

Munsinger led with 17 points, 12 rebounds, 2 assists, 5 blocked shots; Andrew Odor, 13 points, 6 rebounds, 5 assists; Brian Sidhu, 9 points; Chris Hasgawa, 4 points; Victor Valdinia, 4 points; and Miguel Orozco, 3 points.

"What a thrill and heart-thumper that was to start the season with," said coach Jon West. "With such short time to put it together I thought the players really performed well and hope they do as well Monday night with Folsom."

Junior Varsity Loses a Tough One

The sophomore players lost a heart-breaker 44 to 49. They kept the score close all night and were within two points, but with the last three minutes they fell behind to lose only be 5 points.

The scoring was led by Alfredo Rodriguez, with 15 points, 9 rebounds; Radai Mashrigi, 13 points; Ramphank Keomek, 7 points, 3 assists; Sanjoanson Keophet, 4 points; Juan Rubio, 3 points; and Sean O'Neil, 2 points.

News-Ledger Editorial

Watch out for public interest with Lighthouse

The Lighthouse project has drawn a lot of time and expense from the taxpayers of West Sacramento, and what these taxpayers need from their city staff and city council right now is some firm, hard bargaining.

West Sacramento has spent a lot to try to help get the project going. As the development agreements are re-negotiated, the taxpayers' point of view needs to be protected, just as the developers behind Lighthouse are doing their best to protect their own financial position.

The development has come to believe what a lot of officials have said privately for a number of years: that in order to succeed as a high-end home site between the Sacramento River and the Broderick neighborhood of West Sacramento, the development needs to become a private, gated community.

Perhaps we all should have seen this coming from the beginning, before the huge public investment commitments, but what's done is done.

Now it remains important for the city council to hold the line as they appear to be doing, in defense of such necessities as continued public pedestrian access to the riverfront even after the streets are closed to public traffic.

The evolving language of buraucra-speak:

This wonderful new word was found in a local redevelopment agency press release, but don't blame them, it's probably a part of the state government lexicon.

Anyway, the press release refers to the 42-acre Lighthouse site being considered for ownership by the city as having "prime riverfront access, native vegetation and excellent viewsheds."

"Viewsheds." Are those some kind of little shacks with holes to peer out of? Or is a "viewshed" more in the sense of, "While in Paris, we dined in a restaurant along the Seine which had excellent 'viewsheds'?"

Your homework:

Try to use this word in normal conversation at least three times before the next News-Ledger comes out.

Help student musicians

I am a member of the recently formed Golden State Music Boosters Association in West Sacramento. I am appealing to the residents and businesses of West Sacramento for donations to purchase band uniforms for the marching band students at Golden State Middle School.

The music students at Golden State Middle School work very hard and are very enthusiastic even though their current band uniform consists of matching white t-shirts and blue jeans.

To date, the Golden State Middle School Marching Band has been awarded first place in the West Sacramento Founder's Day Parade in October and First Place for middle schools in the Veteran's Day Parade in downtown Sacramento in November. Donations received by the Boosters will be used to trips, awards and to replace twenty to thirty year-old instruments.

However, our first priority is to outfit our band with uniforms.

The music program at Golden State is very large with approximately 100 students. Outfitting the Golden State Marching Band with new uniforms will cost approximately $30,000. So as you can see, we are in desperate need of donations from both the community and businesses in West Sacramento.

Your donations can be mailed to Duane Anderson, president, Golden State Boosters Association, 1100 Carrie Street, West Sacramento, 95605. If you have any questions, please feel free to call me at any time at 372-0279. Mr. Anderson can be reached at 375-7604, ext. 7759.

Also, Mr. Anderson has designed a unique fundraising idea for some of the larger businesses in West Sacramento called "Only One Dollar Once a Month," where a dollar is collected from each employee once a month.

For further details on this fundraising idea, please contact me or Mr. Anderson at the phone numbers listed above. Please help to support the music program at Golden State!

Thank you.

Thanks from Potnick

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the voters of West Sacramento for the privilege to serve the community for another four-year term on the West Sacramento City Council.

A special thanks to my wife, Kathe, and sons Jason and Aaron, for their help and understanding during this campaign and my previous service on the council. A big thank you to the many friends and supporters who assisted me in the campaign to take my grassroots message to the community.

I pledge to work cooperatively with the new members of the city council. I believe West Sacramento is on the verge of tremendous, positive change and we must all work together to ensure that our collective community vision is achieved.

If I may be of assistance, or help any constituent with an issue, please do not hesitate to contact me at 371-4894. If you lose my phone number, keep in mind that I am publicly listed in the white pages of the phone book.

Thanks, pollworkers

I would like to take a moment to thank those who served in our polling places this past election day.

Voters who have never worked in a polling place often do not appreciate the complexity of the process nor the safeguards that are built into it. Our pollworkers must keep track of a multitude of details during the course of a long workday and, of course, at a performance standard of 100 percent.

Elections are the heart of our democracy, and democracy depends on everyone -- not just on the voters or on the candidates, but in Yolo County on those who devote their own personal time to supporting our democratic process on election day.

This past election was particularly taxing: the relatively large turnout kept precinct workers busy throughout the day; new procedures that are part of the "moter voter" law added a number of unfamiliar activities; and pollwatchers from a number of campaigns watched over precinct operations throughout the day.

There is, obviously, no way for our democracy to function without the participation of those who are willing to spend their election day staffing our precincts and ensuring that the conduct of the election is efficient and fair.

So: on behalf of the Elections Office and the voters in Yolo County, I would like to extend a sincere and public "thank you" to all who provide the community support that made our election possible.

TONY BERNHARD
Yolo County Clerk

Ballot mishaps

Election insanity is over and our town has a full house at meetings, a good sign. People taking interest and participating in the processes while they are happening rather than after the fact.

It was very nice of people to be so supportive last week when Tony Bernhard of Yolo gave his rendition of what took place in the Yolo Twilight Zone. Of course, there were no attempts at a correction procedure, since this has happened before, only theory. It was a typical mode of explaining the ineptness of yoyo.

A loss if nothing to the frustration of dealing with people who condescendingly use terms like "glitch" as the reason for not doing their job. Mark Montemayor was busy trying to make me feel consoled rather than being able to enjoy his victory and show some anger for their failure on his behalf...what a day. It would be nice if the candidates could get that much press before election to voice their views rather than allowing the county time to explain away their failures.

But it was nice that Larry Von Kennel, Helen Kanowsky, Mary Lasell, Bob Mahalison, Don Hill, and +50 other people were there to show concern and get some kind of explanation on behalf of West Sacramento.

Congratulations to Mark and Chris. Now we can get on with things as usual. For their first night on the hotseats, they are already having to make choices about the Lighthouse Marina's obligations to the citizens to keep some sort of pedestrian access which was promised before its inception. Interested in how the "new" kids on the block would handle this irritating item, lots of people showed up to watch. And, since business is back to normal, it allows us who will run again in two years to apply pressure to the whole council with an unprecedented manner for the good of our city.

The candidates said that they also would open up meetings and represent the whole population fairly. There was mention of not allowing special interests to control anymore. This is going to be the most exciting two years of press coverage that this city has ever seen. Starting now. Let's see who represents the future and the publics' best interests.

Regional hook-up for wastewater is now being discussed. Sacramento cannot develop and neither can Natomas without using us or spending tons of money and time. Will we roll over and play dead and let Sacramento have all the control and development without getting anything for it, or will we keep control of our city and keep the salaries and fees here. NOW, is West Sacramento's opportunity to demand payback for being left out for so long. Will this new council have the wisdom to do it?

Will the new council demand that we be given something on the river paid for by LMP because of all their previous obligations and money spend by our city for their lawsuits, etc.? The fun begins when we see if this new school board holds their promises to the public by demanding more improvement of the school system too. All things to anticipate while our city conducts business as usual.

See you at the meetings...hopefully.

Longtime friends

(Written upon the passing of longtime resident Ernest Dorris)

"The old story those who play together stay together."

This is true for this West Sacramento group of Friends, Some have moved away, But they still manage to find time to get together once or twice a year Raising there families together they have Camped Fished and traveled a lot of places. The original group started out about 50 years ago, Folk & Square dancing, with Sid & Mildred Farrell as there Instructors. they always tried to spend there New Years together Some of there High Lights were! The old George Town Hotel, the National Hotel in Nevada City, Murphys, Hartage House near the Ocean, Jackson Gate, Konocti Harbor Inn clear lake, In traveling with families they went to Lawson Landing at Dillion Beech, beeches in Org. Woodbee Island and Pudget Sound in Wash. Hemet Ca. and to see the Rose Parade. Bucks Lake, Bear River, Yosemite, Yellow Stone Nat. Park. Even took the Last train Ride to Ceddy. went to Tahoe almost every year to stay over several nights and go to Dinner and a show at Sparks. Staying at Zalutka's and Farnells Cabins.

In later years most have joined the "Nor Cal Air Stream Club." The original group are: Russel & Lillian Dunsmore and sister Ruth Wiggley, Sid & Mildred Farnell, Sam & Cordy Helwer, Bob & Eustes Morley, Gean & Kathern Netherton, Bob & Lela Pasley, Ernest & Nellie Vande Wetering, Bill & Hazel Warren, and Joe and Mary Lue Zalutka.

In the last 25 years or so Chuck & Virginia Warner and Ernest & Hilda Dorris have joined the group.

Some of us have lost our Mates, and other members of our families, But there wasn't one couple that has had a divorce and they have all celebrated there 50th Anv. some 60.

They are all going to get together on the 18th of Dec. for a Breakfast in Elk Grove at Cassidys. returning to the Zalutkas for Games and Visiting. They are not just Friends, but one big Family.

Lighthouse

On November 20 our West Sac City Council gave Lighthouse the green light to become a "gated community" with public pedestrian access until such time that voters from more than 50 percent of developed Lighthouse's total lots vote otherwise. The "gatedness" with its increased security will cause Lighthouse homes/lots to sell for much more and thus pay higher property taxes. Maybe us outsiders should remember this last aspect and relax our complaints for now.

The big item (in this writer's eye) on the agenda was the "update on how to handle new sewer needs, mainly for our Southport area neighbors." Heretofore, it looked like we were choosing the option of piping our waste south, across the river and paying to have same treated at Elk Grove. This came as a relief to those Southport folks living on or near where a sewage treatment plant was initially planned. It seemed like our leaders were re-studying where to (re-) locate our own plant versus how much we would pay for the Elk Grove option and the potential loss of control of our development that includes any project Sacramento (with more votes on the regional board) would want.

The latest BOMBSHELL: As a pre-condition to any further discussion of West Sac hooking up with Elk Grove, Sacramento now insists on Natomas' present and future sewage be (re-) routed through an enlarged West Sac line to Elk Grove, thus saving Sacramento the costs and other problems of enlarging their line to Elk Grove. Less trouble overall, too, we're told. Questions with this arrangement include:

1) Would Sacramento use Natomas-West Sac-Elk Grove route to solve their untreated sewage (into river) problem during heavy rains?

2) Or would they just come straight across river for hookup to Elk Grove?

3) Could not such a line "filled to capacity" with storm drain and sewage -- mostly from Sacramento -- prevent development in West Sac at key times when major decisions are being made as to which side of river to locate?

4) Should not West Sac take this opportunity to insist that we get our bridge across the river somewhere between Sutterville Road and 47th Ave.? An early decision on this could save several millions on (what would then be) unnecessary Pioneer Bridge updates. Light Rail connections and river crossings for such a bridge should be included, too.

5) If someone from Natomas dumped oil products, etc. in their gutters or sewer, would that "no-no" show up as a strike against West Sac?

6) No chance of "raising a stink" in case of line breakage? No noise problems, either, huh?

7) If no agreement with Sacramento in six months, West Sac should proceed with one of several independent alternatives, right?

8) Is Sacramento and the Sacramento International Airport Authority finally willing to allow YoloBus and Regional Transit/ Sacramento to provide bus service to and from the airport with

Broadway play on Holocaust will be tackled by RCHS

River City High School Thespians are busy rehearsing their spring production "Kindertransport," which will open February 27 at Yolo High School and continue for two weekends. The ABC Gala Theater Party honoring cast and crew will be March 7. Alumni of the Thespians will be invited to attend and Arts Booster Club members will host the party which gives the community an opportunity to support this student activity.

Once again, Roy Engoron, director of the play and drama instructor at River City, has secured for the students a unique opportunity: the first student production of a major Broadway play! Diane Samuels recognizes that the Thespians have a reputation for excellence in production not usually associated with high school plays. (The production of "Love Letters" several years ago was also a first-ever student production.)

Diane Samuels has told in "Kindertransport" a part of the story of the 10,000 young German children of Jewish extraction who were sent to England in 1938 and 1939 to escape the pogroms that became the Holocaust.

Altogether, 42 students will be working together to make "Kindertransport" a first-class production, including the stage crew, the tickets and house, light and sound, stage manager as well as the actors. The cast is as follows: Joey Mejia, Sarah Templin, Alyssa Murphy, Leticia Valenzuela, Ashley Carroll and Jaqueline White.

Donate toys on your next Yolobus trip —

Yolobus and Yolobus Special transit systems, in conjunction with the United States Marine Corps League Detachment #627, will be collecting toys on each bus as part of the "Toys for Tots" program. This is the thirteenth year that the Yolo County Transit Authority has participated in this program.

Founded by the U.S. Marine Corps, this program provides the opportunity to share the giving spirit of the season with children who might otherwise not receive a gift.

Toys will be collected on Yolobus and Yolobus Special transit systems, beginning immediately. The last day to donate a toy is December 20, 1996. Toys collected on the buses will be distributed to the needy in Yolo County. For individuals who would like to deliver the toys themselves, they can be delivered to the Yolo County Transit Authority at 350 Industrial Way in Woodland. You may also flag a Yolobus down at any of the over 300 Yolobus stops and the driver will be happy to take the toy.

Due to the lack of time and labor resources to refurbish used toys in time for Christmas, people are asked to donate new or "like new" toys. Donors are asked not to wrap the toys, as this will make it difficult for the distribution agency to match the toys with the child by age and gender.

To learn where Yolobus is in the area, please call Yolobus at (800) 371-2877 in West Sacramento, Winters or Yolo County, or 666-2877 from Woodland or Davis.

Residents of Esparto, Madison, Yolo, Dunnigan, and Knights Landing can also participate in the "Toys for Tots" program by donating new or "like-new" toys to the driver of the Yolobus rural route. For more information, call 661-0816.

Nov. 21, 9:50 p.m.

An officer was notified that a vehicle he was seeking in connection with a domestic disturbance case had been pulled over by another officer at Sacramento and Bryte avenues. When the investigating officer arrived at the scene, the two cops determined that false, photocopied registration tags had been glued on the vehicle's license plate. The 38-year old transient male driver admitted possession of an AK-47 rifle, which was found behind the driver's seat. What appeared to be a small stick of dynamite was also spotted, and officers determined the car contained bomb makings. The man was arrested.

Nov. 23, 2:45 a.m.

A 22 year old Citrus St. woman stabbed her boyfriend in the stomach after he began striking her. She was arrested, and he was reported hospitalized in stable condition.

Nov. 23, 11 a.m.

An officer was dispatched to a domestic disturbance on Hickory Way. The 48-year old male suspect, who lived in a nearby apartment, was found on scene. Victims said he had threatened their lives while holding a metal pipe, and had swung it at them. The man was arrested for making terrorist threats and for attempted assault with a deadly weapon.

Nov. 24, 5:24 p.m.

A liquor store on Jefferson Blvd. reported that a suspect had stolen a case of beer and fled in a vehicle in a "beer run."

Nov. 25, 6:40 a.m.

A 4th St. man reported a woman had stolen the telephone from his location.

Nov. 25, 8:15 a.m.

West Sacramento police were asked to be on the lookout for a 15-year old male runaway from Sacramento. The boy's foster parent said the boy could be camping on the riverfront near the I St. Bridge.

A truck trailer was reported stolen from a trucking site on Rice Ave.

Nov. 25, 10:53 a.m.

Much of the food for the breakfast has been donated by local businesses, such as Whitey's Jolly Kone, and other businesses have pitched in with support ranging from funding, volunteer time, or donations of services, as was the case with Fernandez vs. Miller, who designed and produced posters and tickets for the December 7 breakfast.

Lopez and Ericson, together with a group of over 14 other West Sacramento residents, have been meeting regularly during the past three months to bring about the successful return of American Legion Baseball to West Sacramento. The group has formed a board of directors to provide budgeting, financial support, operations oversight and long-range planning, and the board has appointed commissioners to provide executive staff for team management and coordination of operations.

American Legion Baseball is a local and national program for high school age boys up to 19. It is a highly regarded program generally recognized as the most challenging and professional for its age group. Both major league and college baseball scouts regularly attend American Legion games, affording scholarship and career opportunities to local youth. West Sacramento's board, which also includes Jesse Orta as secretary, Jim Cahill as treasurer, and Peter and Paul Palamidessi as directors, has set ambitious goals for the 1997 season, which begins in June. Efforts are already underway to secure donations of material and funds to coordinate a refurbishment of River City High School's athletic fields and scheduling of facilities has been evaluated by the Sports Federation to prevent any encroachment into other leagues' playing time.

While the board concentrates on long-range efforts, commissioners George Santiago, Ken Valine, Tim McKinnon, Don Coles, Ron Crayne, Lou Rojo and Bob Mattos are developing schedules, uniform selections, equipment and other facilities to support the team of 18 players that will be fielded to represent West Sacramento. The community can expect to see efforts underway to accept sponsorships from local businesses and a strong coordination with the local little leagues, whose players can now aspire to another quality playing opportunity that will enhance experiences in personal development, teamwork and comradeship.

Yolo County:

Volunteer leaders sought

The Yolo County Board of Supervisors is currently seeking volunteers to fill four vacancies: three for the Adult Day Health Care (ADHC) Center Advisory Board, and one for the Yolo County Developmental Disabilities Advisory Committee.

The Adult Day Health Center has three vacancies, one for a recipient of services of ADHC and two for relatives of those recipients. Members of this board review and recommend to the Board of Supervisors the budget, personnel, and subcontractors of the ADHC program.

Members of the Yolo County Developmental Disabilities Advisory Committee are responsible for reviewing the county's developmental needs and the adequacy of providers and facilities to meet those needs, as well as the area developmental disability plan. The committee also reports to the Board of Supervisors as to the program for developmental disabilities. Applicants may be parents of the developmentally disabled or members of the general public.

Those interested in applying for membership on either of these boards should contact Supervisor Tom Stallard at 666-8621 for an application.

Black Intellectuals: Race and Responsibility in American Life. William M. Banks. W.W. Norton Company. 335 pages.

William Banks, professor of African Studies at the University of California, provides a scholarly discussion of the contributions of Black intellectualism to American history. The insights of past and contemporary African American scholars, writers, and activists, as well as a myriad of other Black intellectuals, are examined. Based on historical research and original interviews, Professor Banks clearly demonstrates that the achievements of Black intellectuals to American social history remain paramount to the nation's development.

The Regulators. Richard Bachman. Dutton Publishing. 475 pages.

Richard Bachman is dead. While alive this elusive author wrote several novels that suggested that "we are not alone." Join the thousands of readers who have eagerly awaited the posthumous release of Bachman's The Regulators. Feel the heat radiate off your back on a warm summer day as you walk down Poplar Street. All seems normal in this quiet suburban neighborhood. Yet there is something eerie about the darkened house at the end of the block whose only sign of activity is the flickering light of the television as it filters through the curtains. Unbeknownst to the neighbors, something evil rages inside. Many readers liken Bachman's work to Stephen King's...you're sure to agree!

Cormyr: A Novel. Ed Greenwood & Jeff Grubb. TSR, Inc. 440 pages.

This fantasy adventure chronicles the history of Cormyr, a nation ruled by the Obarskyr family for one and a half millennia. As its king, Azoun IV, lies dying, a crisis of state develops and the kingdom faces uncertain doom. As the king grows weak and his opposition strong, the future of Cormyr is threatened. Yet it is with this crisis that the history of the Forest Kingdom unfolds, recounting the development of a nation, its rulers, and its wizards.
